

For our 2020 Canadian Labour International Film Festival, we will be using the online streaming platform Eventive to distribute films.

All screenings will remain free of charge to host and attend.

To protect our films from being inappropriately distributed, Eventive provides rights-managed availability with strict security and encryption protocols.

This means:

- each screening will have geoblock access to a specific region (the province or territory of your event)
- VPNs are blocked. Anyone using a VPN will not be able to stream the films
- Video conferencing apps are blocked (zoom, jitsi, googlemets, etc). You will not be able to stream with screen shares over these platforms, you can only watch through the Eventive website
- You may have difficulty with the Chromium browser

Hosting Information for Location Coordinators

You can host your festival screening in one of the following four ways:

1. In Person Event

- Select your package(s), date and time of your event, location by registering online (details at labourfilms.ca)
- We'll set up the platform for you
- Only the Location Coordinator will receive a link to stream the films, as the Location Coordinator you will project the films and have the ability to play/stop/skip through any of the film content
- You are responsible for booking event venue, advertising event, projecting the films, and any intros or other hosting requirements

2. Completely Virtual

- Select your package(s), date and time of your event, location by registering online (details at labourfilms.ca)
- We'll set up the platform for you
- We will send you a link to use in your promotions where people planning to attend the event will need to register for a "ticket"
- Promote your event as usual using the registration link and encouraging people to reserve their tickets for your event
- Ticket holders will receive automatic reminder emails about the event and the films will be available for them to screen at the time you have designated for your event
- Attendees enjoy the festival from the comfort of their own homes!

3. Virtual, with recorded Q&A or Host Intro

- Select your package(s), date and time of your event, location by registering online (details at labourfilms.ca)
- You record your own intro, or Q&A session and send us the recording a minimum of 7 days before your event
- We'll set up the platform for you including your recording
- We will send you a link to use in your promotions where people planning to attend the event will need to register for a "ticket"
- Both your recorded session and the films will make up the event that ticket holders will access when they attend
- Promote your event as usual using the registration link
- Ticket holders will receive automatic reminder emails about the event and the films, including your recorded session, will be available for them to screen at the time you have designated for your event
- Attendees enjoy the festival from the comfort of their own homes!

4. Virtual, with live Q&A or Host Intro

- Select your package(s), date and time of your event, location by registering online (details at labourfilms.ca)
- You choose your own live streaming platform (zoom, teams, google meet, jitsi, etc.) and create your own event link to your planned live event
- We'll set up the platform for you to show your chosen festival films
- We will send you a link to use in your promotions where people planning to attend the event will need to register for a "ticket" (this link is separate from your live stream event link)
- You will promote your live event alongside the festival films event (providing 2 links)
- Ticket holders will receive automatic reminder emails about the film streaming event and the films will be available for them to screen at the time you have designated for your event
- Be sure to send your own reminder for the live streaming portion of your event
- Attendees enjoy the festival (and your lovely faces!) from the comfort of their own homes!
